EO TV

The Emergence of Eotv, EO's weekly Webcast, was launched in September to fabulous reviews. The first Webcast garnered an impressive 1,008 viewers! What started out as a virtual vehicle for the dissemination of information has since become an integral part of EO's communication initiatives. As of 9 January 2009, a total of 14,982 unique visitors have viewed EOtv's Webcasts, and many more are projected for the New Year.

EO Values

3 global EO values are highlighted in this edition, in continuation to the last issue

Make a Mark

Yeah, we're different. We're not afraid to challenge convention. This puts us in control of our destiny, and with that comes a great responsibility. If we have the power to shape our destiny, why wouldn't we want to make it great? To build value. To make a difference. To leave a legacy. We're willing to put in the effort to transform any experience into a positive one for all.

Trust and Respect

Our word. Our name. Our reputation: All intangibles that form the fabric of which we are made. In business, as in life, integrity is everything. Within our organization, integrity goes deeper than just the game rules; it is our code of conduct. Confidence, respect and inclusiveness are imperatives. Non-judgment and non-solicitation are non-negotiable. With these values at our core, we can preserve a safe haven for learning and growth.

Cool

How else can we say this? Cool defines our approach, our attitude and our experiences. Our passion for life feeds a desire to be the best. As we challenge convention, we are reinventing the experience of what it means to be an entrepreneur. We are vibrant and progressive. We commit to forward thinking. We commit to innovation. We commit to cool.

More from the Regional Integration Event

The board had worked tirelessly for the last 6 months to arrange a bevy of top speakers, fabulous off sites & fun filled interactive events each day. The event kicked off with scintillating party at F Bar which had all droll over Russian pole dancers jostling for space amongst the "networking entrepreneurs".

Regional Integration Event Comments from Attendees

Vibhas Prasad

Nikhil Meswani – Brilliant speaker, throws numbers at you with amazing speed. Was brilliant to get a macro view of things present and to come. Presentation was very structured.

Rajan Mittal – Straight from the heart, Autobiographical take on how they built a small family business of bicycle parts into India's largest mobile telecom company by subscribers. Also spoke briefly about their JV with WalMart (Retail) & with AXA (Insurance).

Suhel Seth – totally In Your Face, arrogant yet right on. A moving target. He was able to belittle the entire India Diaspora and politicians and yet keep every one amused and on the edge of their chairs.

Dr Shashi Tharoor – A respectable gentleman with such good words and outlook for India.

Chaitanya Dalmia - The speakers were on a good mix of issues surrounding the globe, as also success stories of giant Indian corporations, with some comedy and politics also thrown-in; besides the usual off-sites and partying. It was surely high on Glamour quotient; the quiz however was low on meat, especially for the intellectually-inclined.

Prashant Jain - The RIE 2009 helped me with newer insights. Insights that were based on Gestalt, and that too from people who have become luminaries exercising these traits. Indeed a great take home!!

Anant Kanoi - This was my first RIE and I thoroughly enjoyed the event. Kudos to the people who came up with idea since its an excellent yet convenient platform to network with other chapters in India. It was a weekend filled with inspirational talks (Nikhil & Rajan) and enlightening talks (complexities of the current world financial scenario). Suhel Seth's banter was particularly outstanding and he went beyond the Suhel-isms for a change. The socials were great and went beyond my expectations as we truly showed the other chapters how to party and let our hair down!

Pawan Agarwal - This was my first RIE that I have attended after joining EO. I found that one of the major values that I can derive from EO is from the RIE. It suddenly opened up like minded people from across the country who became friends in just 2 days and also were as eager as I was to share, discuss and network. I even heard some of the members saying that they have been attending RIE for past 10 years or so. I also was a buddy and the members I was taking care of wrote back to me with praises full of the hospitality and the detailing the event had.

The twin signature social events; Clash of Chapters & Woman of Substance provided the perfect platform for all to engage &

An example of how you can make a huge difference by contributing:

My name is Aditya Burman, and I am an EO member in New Delhi, India. I am very sorry to hear of your mother's illness. I am not a medical doctor, however I do run a Cancer Diagnostics Laboratory in India, and would be glad to share my experience/knowledge.

Stage 4 cancer is undoubtedly the most difficult to remove completely. Even if there is a minute portion of the cell line left within the body, it can metastasize to other areas very rapidly (5 months in this case). The idea is to blast the cells with enough medicine to weaken and hopefully kill the tumor. This is an ideal situation but reality is rarely that simple.

I have had some experience in the Venezuelan Oncology (Cancer) market as we used to sell Oncology pharmaceuticals there. I have got some recommendations from our local partners regarding the best options for you in Venezuela. They are listed at the end of the mail.

Another option that you could try (though it does come with some warnings) is a medicine called Topotecan. This was a product which was marketed solely by Dabur Pharma (our former company) in Mexico and should also be available in Venezuela. The problem with this compound is that it has severe toxicity associated with it. Unless the doctor has had previous experience with Topotecan, they tend to stay away from the treatment as the toxicity can be very difficult to handle. If the doctor is comfortable with the treatment, it can be effective in these cases of late stage Ovarian cancer.

I also know of a doctor in Mexico (Dr. Alfonso Dounes – INCAN Hospital, Mexico City) who conducted a clinical trial for us using our Topotecan in Cervical Cancer. The issue was also addressed indulge in nights of revelry, trivia & dance with leading Bollywood Actress & Anchor, Sophie Choudhary.

The icing on the cake was, my wife being crowned as the "Women of Substance", amongst 7 winners who walked away with the crown in a teasing 'finale' that saw our judge, Mrs Jyotsna Suri decide to award 2 extra prizes (on her own accord & account) due to a tie break.

Till next time. So, did we "Raise the Bar"?

by SMeO (the Mexican Oncology Association) to develop guidelines for administering Topotecan in advanced Ovarian Cancer Patients. I would suggest that you get in touch with the Doctor himself to evaluate the potential benefit to your mother. Other than these options, there are several trials etc going on in the US at any time, and it might be possible for your mother to enroll in one of them. The site is <http://clinicaltrials.gov/> and you would have to enter the search parameters.

Additionally, there are some other issues which must be addressed during the treatment, which are mostly to do with side effect handling. The important thing is for the individual to keep their strength and immunity up. This can be done with good nutritional advice and supplements. The body should be as active as the therapy in getting rid of the disease! I would suggest seeing a nutritionist as a part of the treatment.

I hope this is of some use to you and your mother. It is a very traumatic thing to get diagnosed with cancer and there are several online support groups which could give sound advice and comfort to your mother and your family. I would highly recommend availing of those experiences as well.

Please feel free to contact me through this address if you have any more questions etc. I would be glad to help!

Warm Regards,
Aditya C Burman
